Key Findings & Highlights

For the high tech and automotive sector prospects, Movate offers its custom CX transformation model where it leverages AI at the front end, such as augmenting with copilots and integrating on-site, WAH, and gig workforce at the backend, including by training AI algorithms. The latter is part of a full suite of AI solutions, including integrated and non-integrated services in the client's core technology stack.

Outsourcing clients looking for a CX services vendor with a mature CX transformation approach that is future-proofed against AI takeover of live agent support, a clear vision and implementation roadmap on the role of outcome-based commercial constructs, and one that has a breadth and depth in the high tech sector across subsegments and CX service lines, should especially consider this profile on Movate.
